

Privacy Policy

Chattahoochee Valley Community College prohibits commercial marketing of visitor information and the disclosure of personal information without prior consent of the visitor. We will not obtain personally identifying information about you when you visit our site unless you choose to provide such information to us, such as an email address. We use your email address to respond appropriately. This may be to respond to you, to send you the information you have requested, to address issues you identify, to further improve our web site, or to forward an email to another agency for appropriate action.

This site may use cookies to carry user information from one page to another. An example is a search criterion. This information is not stored on our server but on your workstation. We do not track this information on our server. The cookies we use are set to expire at the end of your browser session. This means that when you close your browser they are deleted.

Our server tracks statistical information (through the use of server logs and statistical software) to help us monitor the use of our site.

We use the information we collect to measure the number of visitors to the different sections of our site and to help us make our site more useful to visitors.

Chattahoochee Valley Community College also complies with Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), which prohibits the release of educational records without student permission. For more details on FERPA, currently enrolled students should consult the Chattahoochee Valley Community College Catalog and Student Handbook or the Admissions Office located on the second floor of Wallace Hall, or email admissions@cv.edu. Information may also be found at cv.edu/consumer-information.
