

Licensure Disclosure Statement – Medical Laboratory Technician Program

The Medical Laboratory Technician program at Chattahoochee Valley Community College is designed to prepare graduates for employment in medical laboratory technician positions. Completion of this program does not require licensure to work as a medical laboratory technician in the states of Georgia or Alabama. However, some states may have additional certification, registration, or licensure requirements to practice as a medical laboratory technician. If you reside in or plan to seek employment in a state other than Georgia or Alabama, it is your responsibility to consult the appropriate state licensing board or agency to determine whether licensure or certification is required. For guidance in identifying state-specific requirements, please contact the Medical Laboratory Technician Program Director or visit ww.cv.edu.